Guidelines for organizing

CHILD FRIENDLY MELAS & LARGE GATHERINGS

An initiative of
NATIONAL COMMISSION FOR PROTECTION OF CHILD RIGHTS (NCPCR)
Due to the magnitude and attraction of celebrations like ‘Melas’ and large gatherings of people come in multitudes including children. Since lakhs of people participate in such events, including several children, it is pertinent to highlight that many children reportedly go missing or get lost and separated from their families/guardians during these Melas, in which they are vulnerable and at high risk of falling prey to trafficking, kidnapping, sexual exploitation and abuse. It is therefore of utmost importance to create a child friendly environment or Child Friendly Mela.

The document is a step in a direction with an objective to; provide indicators to organizers, administrators and other stakeholders for organizing Child Friendly Mela or Large gathering. These Guidelines has been formulated after two successful pilot (1) Krishna Pushkaram, Andhra Pradesh (2) Poush Mela, West Bengal and in consultation with all the concerned Ministries/Departments and stakeholders.

I am extremely happy to acknowledge the strenuous work done by the Commission and all the stakeholders and immense personal contribution made by Ms. Rupa Kapoor, Member, NCPCR and her team.

I am certain that these Guidelines will help all the stakeholders including State Government, local authorities and organizers/administrators in planning and making melas and large gatherings Child Friendly by implementing all the indicators given.

We hope that the Guidelines for organizing Child Friendly Melas & Large gatherings prepared in consultation with the concerned Ministries/Departments /Organizations will be used as a tool by all the States/UTs for organizing any Melas & large gatherings in their respective States/UTs.

Introduction

India, land of spirituality and philosophy, is home to large number of religious and mass gatherings and pilgrimages such as Kumbh melas, Ardh Kumbh mela, Rath Yatra etc. Many of these gatherings attract millions of people from most parts of the country and also across the world. The influx of millions of pilgrims/visitors during such gatherings creates tremendous amount of pressure on their host cities and organizers with the result that any kind of disaster in those gatherings ends in widespread human and infrastructure impact. Some of the big fairs/mass gatherings in India are Pushkar fair, Baneshwar fair, Gangasagar fair, Tarnetar Mela, Chaitre Chaudash mela, Nagaur fair etc.

Mela is a Sanskrit word meaning 'gathering' or 'to meet' or a 'fair'. It is used in the Indian subcontinent for all sizes of gatherings and can be religious, commercial, cultural or sport-related etc. In rural traditions melas or village fairs were (and in some cases still are) of great importance. This led to their export around the world by South Asian diaspora communities wishing to bring something of that tradition to their new countries.

In recent times "Mela" also popularly refers to shows and exhibitions. It can be theme-based, promoting a particular culture, art or skill. Generally in "melas" people can find eateries, entertainment activities, shops and games.

Due to the magnitude and attraction of celebrations like ‘Melas’ and large gatherings of people come in multitudes including children. Since lakhs of people participate in such events, including several children, it is pertinent to highlight that many children reportedly go missing or get lost and separated from their families/carers during these Melas, in which they are vulnerable and at high risk of falling prey to trafficking, kidnapping, sexual exploitation and abuse. It is therefore of utmost importance to create a child friendly environment or Child Friendly Mela.
Definition of Child Friendly

According to the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection) Act, 2015, “Child Friendly” means any behaviour, conduct, practice, process, attitude, environment or treatment that is humane, considerate and in the best interest of the child."

A Child Friendly Mela should enable a safe space, which would ensure the right to child’s Recreation, Protection and Participation. In order to make it effective the Mela Organiser or event planner has to be sensitive to the needs of a child so that a system can be created for effective implementation.

Thus a need was felt by the Commission to develop Child Friendly Mela guidelines for making melas/large gatherings safe for our children.

National Commission for Protection of Child Rights (NCPCR) took an early initiative, a first of its kind, to make “Simhasth Kumbh mela”, at Ujjain, M.P (April 22nd to May 21st 2016) a Child Friendly Mela, in which approx 5 Crore (50 Millions) pilgrims from all walks participated. The said mela was declared Child Friendly by Hon’ble Chief Minister, Madhya Pradesh.

The said mela was declared Child Friendly by Hon’ble Chief Minister, Madhya Pradesh.

The National Commission for Protection of Child Rights (NCPCR) was established in March 2007 under the Commissions for Protection of Child Rights Act, 2005, an Act of Parliament (December 2005). The Commission's mandate is to ensure that all laws, policies, programmes, and administrative mechanisms are in consonance with the Child Rights perspective, as enshrined in the Constitution of India and also the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child. The Child is defined as a person in 0 to 18 years age group.

The Commission visualizes a rights-based perspective flowing into National Policies and Programmes, along with nuanced responses at the State, District and Block levels, taking care of specificities and strengths of each region. In order to reach to each child, it seeks a deeper penetration to communities and households and expects that the ground experiences gathered at the field are taken into consideration by all the authorities at the higher level. Thus the Commission envisage an indispensable role for the State, sound institution-building processes, respect for decentralization at the local bodies and community level and larger societal concern for children and their well-being.

According to Section 13(d) of the CPCR Act, 2005, one of the roles of the Commission is to examine all factors that inhibit the enjoyment of rights of children affected by terrorism, communal violence, riots, natural disaster, domestic violence, HIV/AIDS, trafficking, maltreatment, torture and exploitation, pornography and prostitution and recommend appropriate remedial measures;

The NCPCR strives to protect children by preventing and responding to violence, exploitation and abuse against children – including commercial sexual exploitation, trafficking, child labour and harmful traditional practices, such as child marriage.

Commission’s programmes also target children who are vulnerable to abuses; such as children living without parental care, in conflict with the law etc. Violations of the child’s right to protection increase during natural disasters, calamities, large scale events like Melas etc. The Commission strives to create a protective environment, where children are safe from violence, exploitation, and unnecessary separation from family; and where laws, services, and practices minimize children’s vulnerability, address known risk factors, and strengthen children’s own resilience.

Children subjected to violence, exploitation, abuse and neglect are at risk of death, poor physical and mental health, HIV/AIDS infection, educational problems, displacement, homelessness, vagrancy and poor parenting skills later in life.
Objectives

1) Ensuring ‘Safety and Security’ of Children during large scale gatherings such as Melas/Fairs/Events etc.

2) Framing indicators for making such large scale events ‘Child Friendly’ to ensure zero tolerance for any violation of child rights and child protection.

3) Fixing accountability of the concerned officials to ensure zero tolerance w.r.t the indicators outlined by the Commission for such melas/large scale gatherings thereby facilitating smooth logistic coordination and ensuring safety & security of children during such events.

4) Leveraging technological innovations to promote “Child Friendliness” during such Melas. For example; using bar coding technique and other available technological medium to prevent and track missing children.

5) To ensure optimal usage of all available information and communication channels for making such events ‘Child Friendly’ such as: Audio visuals, banners, posters, announcements etc.

6) To create gender sensitive and Child-Centred; Child Friendly environment for promoting child participation at melas and large gatherings.

7) To ensure a healthy, hygienic, and safe environment, with adequate water and sanitation facilities and healthy practices (e.g., a Mela/ large scale gatherings free of drugs/Harmful substances, violence, Child labour, Child trafficking, and harassment), and to arrange provisioning of health/medical services and nutritional supplementation and counseling.

8) Establishing a Child Rights Desk: To increase awareness about Child Rights and entitlements under laws, creation of a Child Rights Desk for dissemination of information on existing laws/schemes/polices available for children.

9) To ensure convergence of various stakeholders viz. various Departments of State Governments and District Administration with NGOs etc.

10) Encourage Public Sector Undertakings (PSUs)/ Corporate Social Responsibility (CSRs) to partner in sponsoring various aspects of Child Friendliness during such Melas.

11) Provide positive experiences to make children excited such melas/gatherings, where they can feel welcome and safe.

12) Creating an inclusive environment for such melas/gatherings thereby making them friendly for Children with Special Needs.

13) To encourage active involvement and participation of children.

Child Friendly Corner
A child Friendly Corner is a demarcated area in the Mela/venue/premises which is Child Friendly and provides information regarding access to services for children in crisis or an adult seeking help on behalf of a child.
Protocols for making Melas & Large Scale gatherings: Child Friendly

1. Set up for a Child Friendly Mela/Large Gatherings

   - Mapping of population of the district, specifically child population, where the mela is being planned may be done in advance by using the database of Registrar General of India. This will enable to ensure safety measures for children before organizing the mela/large gathering. The mapping of child vulnerability done by Child line India Foundation can be used as a planning tool to add District/area specific elements to the services being provided for the protection of children.

   - Leverage maximum usage of various available technologies for example: bar coding technique and other available technological medium to ensure that no child goes missing and can be easily able to trace.

   - A web page to be created on the official website of the State/District with all necessary information pertaining to mela including, route maps showing the locations of all mela/event sites in the city. This shall also be given on the official website of the concerned Departments and mela/event organizing committee.

   - To create attractive, playful and engaging environments that stimulates the imagination and is fun for children, colours should be used for ground coverings, furniture, and lighting to make the place feel inviting and child friendly.

   - Before organising a mela or a large scale gathering, a preparatory meeting with the young people/students may be called to invite their fresh ideas to make the design modern, exciting and Child Friendly. Designing of the premises should be done in a way to make the best use of the available space.

   - Special Radio Jingles should be developed and announcements can be made by the eminent personalities/actors on the importance of safety mechanisms.

   - Inclusive – providing opportunities for safe and healthy enjoyment for all ages and abilities, especially children with special needs.

   - Provide a comfortable physical environment (shade, shelter, winter & sun).

   - Ensure Mela/event places are accessible and link in with public transport services. Information regarding public transport with routes should be made available for commuters.

   - Fire exit and emergency evacuation routes to be planned. Arrangement of Fire services/ambulance should be made. Risk assessment of those hazards which could cause harm.
to staff or members of the public attending the event, should be undertaken before setting up mela/large event. This may be done as per guide prepared by NDMA for State Government, local authorities, Administrators and Organizers, titled as, “Managing crowds at events and venues of mass gatherings”.

- Smoke detection fire alarms should be placed all over the mela premises.
- Setting up lost and found centres across the mela/ event premises. This should also be link with Khoya Paya portal for missing/found children initiated by MWCD if the child is not traceable within 3-4 hours.
- To engage multilingual persons to make announcement for easy communication with the wards of missing children who came from various states of the Country.
- Leaflets to be distributed with Do’s & Don’ts’, route maps, locations and emergency contacts. Emergency contacts should be displayed at the website of State/District and public places. Emergency telephone directory should include telephone numbers of key personnel and external agencies
- Helpline numbers at railway stations, bus stands and inside the mela premises should be displayed

1-a) Entry Gate

- Security Guard/Police Personnel/ Commandos to be deployed at each entry gate for crowd control, safety and security and also to check any cases of harassment. Barricades should be used to restrict the crowd.
- Technology based innovations for ensuring protection of children mainly to track missing children viz: Bar-coding, RFID (Radiofrequency identification) tags and other available digital technological innovations to be introduced for example a tamper-proof wrist band may be tied to every child at the entry gate. Parents' mobile number or any other contact number should be on the tag using indelible ink. This could be feed into a special mobile and Internet application and whenever a child is found lost, the parents can be contacted by using the mobile number.
- Awareness campaigns on advantages of tagging & what to do when lost must be clearly impressed upon both the parents/guardians & children themselves.
- Entry & Exit Gates from Ghats (if near river side) should be separated & number of tags issued at entry gates should be retrieved/returned on exit gates.
- Installation of CCTVs cameras at entry and exit gate and within mela/large gatherings.
- Awareness/information dissemination regarding probable kinds of abuse against children through various audio visual means: such as: pamphlets, loudspeakers etc.
Volunteers of Child line India Foundation to be deployed to support Frisking booths for Women. Women booth should have facility for frisking children rather separate children Frisking booths. Frisking of a female child is to be done by a female volunteer only; therefore at least one shift based volunteer has to be available throughout the day.

The Registration Counter should be attached to the Frisking Booth.

A Child Help Desk should be established for dissemination of information related to laws/policies/schemes related to children etc. CWC member, Childline, Counselor, an official of AHTU, and a Social worker should be part of this Desk. Child Help Desk should be equipped with facilities like video conference, CCTV, Computer etc.

If children found in begging, performing Road shows, circus or in any kind of child labor should be brought to Child Help Desk and from there CWC may send the child to Children Homes as per Act.

Easy signage’s (in local language also) for Child Rights Desk/ toilets/food area/entry and exit should be displayed all over the premises. Registration counters for adults accompanying children/children coming alone. If a missing child is found, whose parents are from some other State and help to understand the language being used is required, a call to 1098 may be able to resolve the language issue.

1-b) inside the premises

CCTV coverage at all vulnerable locations to be monitored at the control room.

Large hoardings of visuals on the mela and safety instructions should be made to create awareness

Lost and Found Centre.

Language experts should be appointed for making announcements in local language including sign language experts should be positioned at Help desk Counters

Child Friendly Corner/space; Multiple Children corner to be established

Child Friendly Mela Piloted at Krishna Pushkaram Mela, Vijaywada,

Krishna Pushkaram, 2016 was one of the largest gatherings in Andhra Pradesh. This Mela was organized once in 12 years for 12 days. Crores of people gather in this Mela to take a dip in the river Krishna and pray to the Goddess at a temple at top of a hill. Earlier in this Mela, there have been instances where children have been reported missing and several organizational issues would come up. However in 2016, the Hon’ble Chief Minister of Andhra Pradesh decided to make this Mela a far more organized and safe. The Mela was organized from 12th Aug’16 to 23rd Aug’16. As expected more than a crore participated in the Mela.

NCPCR shared the indicators for organizing this Krishna Pushkaralu Mela 2016 as a Child Friendly Mela with A.P State Government/District officials and other stakeholders. On Commission’s initiative, Hon’ble Chief Minister of Andhra Pradesh declared Krishna Pushkaralu Mela 2016 a “Child Friendly Mela”.

Some of the Highlights of this Child Friendly Mela were:

- Complete discipline was maintained by Police to manage the crowd as there were multiple entry and exit gates. The river had a barricade which people could not cross; they had to take a dip only till that level which had knee deep water, to prevent drowning.

- The best innovation was the Child Tracking Band which was given to each and every child in the Mela. This band was also supplied for senior citizens. The innovative initiative of Child Tracking Band involved tagging a wrist band around a child's wrist with the name of the child and mobile number of the parent written on it with indelible ink. Further details like their address and parents name etc, were captured in the application 'Kris Pushkaram,2016-Child Tracking’ as well as through a web link.

- Total 9,38,818 children were tagged by using Child Tracking Bands through web/app based address and manually. More than 20 children, who were lost, were traced within 30 min and handed over to their respective parents/guardians. The toll free number and one emergency contact number provided by the district administration was pre-printed on this tag.

- Volunteers continuously provided water and other liquids to devotees waiting in queues. Drinking water booths were also set up.

- Butter Milk, Water and food was distributed free and the State crossed a world record in its distribution.
Medical Assistance

- Medical Aid tents were set up every 1 km distance. Free Medical Aid was provided. Ambulances were ready. Hospitals nearby were made ready to accommodate patients. Free Bedded temporary Health facility was set up in the Mela campus as well. Ayush stalls were also opened to give information on ayurvedic medicines and plants.

- Sanitation facility was maintained. Continuously water was used through big pipes to clean the Ghats. Dustbins were kept at regular intervals. A large number of sanitation workers were deployed. Some workers regularly cleaned the river with nets, so flowers and other puja items dropped by devotees were instantly picked up.

- Travel was free for devotees. Wheel chairs and other e rickshaws were installed for old and disabled people.

- A total of 500 Integrated Child Development Scheme (ICDS) staff and more than 1500 volunteers were involved in the process of tagging the children, old people and uploading the data through webpage and app.

- Special Volunteers in ‘Pink Jackets’ were deployed to only look for missing/abandoned children. (This idea was shared by NCPCR)

- A Nutrition Corner/Breastfeeding Booth- a unique concept observed for the first time in Melas, where women with small children could rest and feed their children in privacy. A heath worker present in that booth advised mothers on the importance of breastfeeding and healthy diets. Milk packets were given to older children.

- Continuous ORS medicines were provided to children & adults to prevent dehydration.

- Nutritious packed food for children: Children were getting nutritious packed food in the mela by SHG groups.

- Focus on Hygiene surroundings. A big number of staff for cleaning the area was deployed. All the ghats were made clean.
Do’s/Don’ts were also clearly mentioned on the official website and in the mela.

Children found begging or in child labor were saved and brought to CWC from where they were sent to special Homes for observation. These Homes were set up primarily for the Mela. NGOs helped in identifying these children.

Continuous announcements, IEC materials, hoardings, directions were present as per guidelines.

Special Radio Jingles and announcements by Chief Ministers and eminent personalities/actors were made on the importance of child tagging and other safety mechanisms.

Large hoardings of visuals on the mela and safety instructions were made to create awareness

Helpline: Krishna Pushkaralu Helpline Phone Numbers, Krishna Pushkaram Toll free Numbers for Andhra Pradesh and Telangana, 24X7 Help lines call centre numbers Vijayawada, Emergency Contact Information were given on the website and also displayed in the mela premises.

Website krishnapushkaralu.com, was hosted by the State Government with all the relevant information, map showing the locations of all mela/event sites in the city published on the official website.

Leaflets were also given with Do’s & Don’ts’, route maps, locations and emergency contacts.

Security Guard/Police were deployed in big numbers at entry gate/Exit gates for crowd control, safety and security.

CCTVs were installed at each entry/exit gate. Police and Commandos continuously monitored the crowd to check any cases of harassment.

Youth volunteers continuously searched for children who may not be wearing the band and also to sensitize parents to be cautious of traffickers. First Aid Volunteers, Disaster risk volunteers and health volunteers were posted across the mela and from points where people entered- bus-stands, railway platforms etc.

Outcome

The Krishna Pushkaran Mela followed all the guidelines (as mentioned above) proposed by NCPCR and a number of children were saved from being missing, trafficked and in child labour. The best innovation was the Child Tracking Band which was given to each and every child traced in the Mela and breastfeeding booth for lactating mothers.

About the Poush Mela

The Poush Mela is an annual fair and festival that takes place in Shantiniketan, in Birbhum District of West Bengal, marking the harvest season. Commencing on the 7th day of the month of Poush, the fair officially lasts for three days, although vendors stay until the month-end. The key characteristic of this fair includes live performances of Bengali folk music, notably the ‘Baul’ music.

Nobel Laureate Shri Rabindranath Tagore’s father Shri Devendranath Tagore initiated the Poush Utsav at Shantiniketan. A small fair was organised in December 1894. This small Poush Mela is now a large gathering that attracts International crowds as well.

The Mela is primarily an artistic and scholarly fair managed by the Visva Bharati University at Santiniketan.

'Child tagging' to help lost kids reunite with family in fairs

Fairs are infamous for kids separating from their parents and the issue has been the theme of many an Indian movie.

To end this problem, two young IAS officers here have come up with a smart solution of 'child tagging' to end this problem.

Gandham Chandradas, Joint Collector of Krishnanagar district, and G Surendra, Sub-Collector of Vijayawada, came up with this simple but realistic solution which is now being effectively used during the ongoing Krishna Pushkar Kam.

Ever since the 12-day river festival started on August 12, at least 20 children got separated from their parents at different bathing ghats in Vijayawada but, thanks to the 'Child Tagging' initiative they got reunited in no time.

"The maximum we took was about 30 minutes to reunite a lost child with the parents. All it takes is just a mobile number," Chandradas said.

A tamper-proof wrist band is tied to every child before he/ she ventures into a bathing ghat with parents or kin.

Basically the parents mobile number on any other contact number is written on the tag using indelible ink. It is fed into a special mobile and internet application and whenever a child is found lost, the parents are contacted using the mobile number," Chandradas said.

At Durga ghat, the main venue of Krishna Pushkar Kam in Vijayawada that teems with thousands of pilgrims at any moment, a 10-year-old girl Teja from West Godavari district got separated from her parents.

Teja is dumb but luckily the volunteers on duty at the ghat found her wandering and immediately called her father on the mobile number.

"In ten minutes of our call, Teja was reunited with her parents," the Joint Collector said.

The child tagging proved helpful in an otherwise way as well. A person was coming out of the ghat along with his three-year-old daughter but suffered an epileptic attack. As the girl looked around helplessly, volunteers called their landline number written on her wrist band.

His family members were notified of the matter before he was shifted to a hospital for treatment. This man traced both his mobile and landline numbers and then saved him the day.

"This is a small initiative but helping us in a big way," a gleaming Chandradas noted.

In all, 10 lakh wrist bands were studied for the Pushkar Kam and so far over three lakh were used, indicating that more many children came for a holy dip in the river.

"Not just children, we are using this even for senior citizens and disabled persons as well. And, everything is working smoothly," the young officer observed.

NCPCR’s foray in Poush Mela

NCPCR drafted Guidelines on the child friendly initiatives that could be taken for any fairs, melas or gatherings in India. They were called the ‘Guidelines for organizing Child Friendly Mela or large gatherings’. To pilot this initiative NCPCR chose one large gathering—the Krishna Pushkaran Fair at Vijaywada and a relatively small fair of Poush Mela at Santiniketan.

In August’16, NCPCR Member met the District Administration and mela authorities at Santiniketan to discuss whether the Pous Mela could be designed as a child friendly mela. Poush mela does not have cases of child missing or being trafficked but a large number of tribal and poor families came to sell their products. There were instances of child labour and child marriage in this mela along with child beggars. To make people aware of child rights and schemes related to children, member requested the authorities to consider developing certain aspects of the mela as child friendly.

In November’16 Member once again met the authorities to finalise the child friendly components of the mela. It was determined that the mela would have

- A child rights corner with different stalls on different schemes of the Government
- A child Rights desk for information
- Provision of a Child tracking wrist band with telephone numbers so that children do not go missing
- Volunteers with bright Jackets to trace children without Child tracking wrist band and give support. Volunteers could be students who are trained by Childline
- Safe drinking water facilities
- Safe toilet facilities
- Police to develop a stall which would depict a child friendly police station
- Opportunity for children to express their views
- IEC materials across the District- in Bus-stands and Railway Stations for information on child friendly Pous Mela
- Emergency response/ disaster Management
- Provision of Ambulance and health safeguards
- Firefighting facilities
- Prevention of Child beggars, child labours: affidavit to be taken in advance from stalls not to employ child labours
- No child trafficking and missing

Member encouraged all Government Departments and NGOs to work in tandem and collect funds for applying these guidelines in the Mela. The District Administration took the task upon them and in

The District Administration took the task upon them and in coordination with Visva Bharati University planned to initiate some guidelines of the child friendly mela in Poush Mela. They also planned advocacy initiatives and measures to promote the child friendly mela.

There were several administrative and financial problems that the mela authorities and District authorities incurred. This was also the very first time that a concept like this was initiated in Bengal and in Santiniketan. However from 23rd December to 25th Dec’16, the authorities were able to set up a Child Friendly Pous Mela at Santiniketan, West Bengal’s first mela of this kind.

Introduction
