

On taking charge as Commissioner of Police, Delhi, I feel it is indeed a great honour to have been given this opportunity to serve the people of Delhi. Policing in Delhi is a complex and challenging task and it would be my endeavour to instil a better sense of security in Delhi's citizens.

While carrying on with the best practices evolved over the past decades, an innovative approach to tune policing to contemporary requirements will be the need of the hour. Safety of vulnerable groups such as women, children, and senior citizens shall be of utmost concern.

The Delhi Police, under my command, would strive to be more responsive and service-oriented with sharper focus on grievance-redressal and service-outreach to all sections of society. We would, at the same time, greatly cherish a trustworthy and robust community partnership.

I sincerely look forward to your valuable cooperation in all our endeavours.